You & I know how much this holiday season means to a child. But for a child with a parent in prison, the holiday season will bring only frustration instead of hopefulness, defeat instead of happiness.

You can make a difference to a child with a incarcerated parent by sowing a financial blessing or providing new toys for them to enjoy. This will let them know someone really cares about them.

Testimony

Two-thirds of Living Stones children of inmates have not visited their incarcerated parent in 3 years. Such is the case of sisters DL & TJ.

The sisters haven't seen their dad for over 3 years until Living Stones arranged a special bonding visit for them. Tears of joy & hugs from the girls opened a flood gate of tears between girls and dad. The dad was truly elated and said, "This is the best gift anyone could ask for...being with loved ones".
